Professional Profile

Caroline Kenny is an international arbitrator specialising in commercial and investment disputes. She has more than 35 years' experience acting in complex international matters, including over 16 years as King's Counsel. She is admitted to practice in Australia, the United Kingdom and New York and maintains chambers in Melbourne and London. Caroline is a former president of the Australian branch of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators and is currently the only female Chartered Arbitrator in Australia. She is highly respected in the international arbitration community for her commitment to the promotion of arbitration as the preferred means for resolving international disputes and for her diligent, responsive and practical approach as an arbitrator.

A trusted international arbitrator

Caroline has served as presiding arbitrator, sole arbitrator and wing arbitrator in a broad range of complex disputes, including banking, finance, joint ventures, construction, Mergers and Acquisitions, energy, insurance, re-insurance, IT, licensing, sale of business, manufacture, sale of goods, crypto- currency, entertainment and sports. She has an in-depth knowledge and experience of all major arbitral institutions including the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC), the London Court of International Arbitration (LCIA), the Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC), the Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre (HKIAC), the World Intellectual Property Organisation (WIPO), and the International Centre for Dispute Resolution (ICDR). Caroline also has worked with and has experience with the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules for ad hoc arbitrations and IFTA disputes.

Caroline's decision as an arbitrator was considered by the High Court of Singapore in Malini Ventura v Knight Capital Pte Ltd and others [2015] SGHC 225. Her approach to a challenge to jurisdiction was upheld by Justice Judith Prakash in the High Court and led to new law on a Tribunal's discretion under the Singapore International Arbitration Act 1994 (CAP 143A). The decision of Justice Prakash was subsequently endorsed by Chief Justice Menon in Tomolugen Holdings Ltd and another v Silica Investors Ltd and other appeals [2015] SGCA 57.

Caroline also has a keen interest in sports arbitration. She is a member of Australia's National Sports Tribunal and in 2023 was appointed to preside over the first appeal from the General Division of the Tribunal. She is on the list of members for the Australian Olympic/Paralympic Selection Appeals. She is also on the panel of arbitrators of the Court of Arbitration for Sport (TAS/CAS).

Longstanding commitment to arbitration teaching and research

Caroline has a deep academic interest in international arbitration, in both teaching and research. She is on the Approved Faculty Listing of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (CIArb) to teach all international arbitration courses and is also a Regional Pathway Leader for all of CIArb's courses, including the highly acclaimed Diploma Fellowship Course, the Award Writing Fellowship Course and the Accelerated Route to Fellowship Course. Caroline's doctoral thesis, undertaken at the internationally recognized Monash University, was on the topic: 'Is Confidentiality an Accepted Principle in International Commercial Arbitration, and if so, Should it Be Regulated by the Model Law.' This involved a detailed review of the approach taken to confidentiality in leading arbitration jurisdictions as well as the development of proposed amendments to the UNCITRAL Model Law to regulate confidentiality.

Contribution to the work of arbitral institutions

Caroline brings a practical perspective as a thought leader to her international arbitration practice through her contribution to the work of a number of leading arbitration institutions. She is currently serving as the elected Trustee for Australasia to the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, headquartered in London. That role involves her in helping to shape the policy direction for the Institute, which supports a network of 18,000 members across 149 countries. In her role as Trustee she collaborates with Trustees from Asia, Africa, Europe, England and the MENA region which has deepened her knowledge of arbitration in those regions.

Caroline also currently serves as of the Professional Advisor Committee of the Australian Centre for International Commercial Arbitration (ACICA), having previously served on ACICA's board of directors and the International Advisory Board. Caroline is also a member of the Advisory Board of Deakin University Law School, which is one of only five universities from more than 360 global competitors to have participated in the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot every year since it commenced in 1993. It is also one of only four universities to have won the Moot twice (in 1999 and 2014). Caroline is actively involved with the Viz Moot, both in coaching teams and as a judge.

Depth of commercial understanding and industry knowledge

Caroline brings a depth of knowledge in commercial law disputes through her more than 35 years of practice, including 16 years as a Kings Counsel. As Kings

Counsel Caroline has been retained in significant high profile disputes for commercial parties including major corporates, banks, insurers, re-insurers, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Australian Defence Force, the Australian Federal Police, and the Australian Securities and Investment Commission. Caroline is known for her attention to detail and organisational skills in leading large teams in complex commercial disputes. These skills have been honed in multi-party commercial disputes including class-actions/representative proceedings.

Caroline's involvement as a director of commercial and not-for-profit boards for more than 20 years has enabled her to bring the 'board perspective' where necessary into her decision-making. She is currently the Chair of Foley's List, the largest barristers' List (Chambers/Set) in Australia, with more than 300 multi-discipline barristers and more than 20 clerks and other staff. As Chair of the List Caroline works collaboratively with the List Committee and the Chief Clerk to steer the strategic direction of the List as well as regularly being called on to make decisions within short time-frames which impact on the resources and management of the staff and barristers on the List.
