

Submission against the proposed 2015 AMI charges applications

Any charge for a manual meter read is inappropriate as there are other services including water and gas who read meters manually.

The cost for these services to also read the electricity meter is negligible as the person is already there.

People can also take a photo of the meter and email it to the relevant company.

It is disgraceful that the government even consider such a stupid and corrupt idea.

How much is this foolishness costing the tax payer?

Why isn't the real issue of distributors harassing and bullying law abiding citizens being investigated?
