

The RITs are cost–benefit analyses that network businesses must perform and consult on before making major investments in their networks. When undertaking RITs, network businesses must give due consideration to what options are out there, before identifying the best way to address needs on their networks.

It is essential to maintain the analysis in conjunction with community consultation - and in consideration of Social Licence before undertaking any works.

Given the foreign nature of the ownership only proper regulation lies between a rip off of our country and its assets and the honest considered progression of these developments. We already have projects moving forward that are suggestive of unwarranted collaboration between developers and Departmental approval Systems.

The need for close scrutiny is essential to be maintained before the public eye.
